Journey So Far

Herbo Group, founded in 1978, embarked on a professional journey that spans over several decades and encompasses various industries. Here's a chronological overview:

Throughout its journey, Herbo Group has demonstrated adaptability, foresight, and a commitment to excellence, positioning itself as a versatile and forward-thinking conglomerate in the global market.

Social Responsibility

The Herbo Foundation recognizes the profound impact of social responsibility in fostering positive change within communities. As such, our foundation is deeply committed to leveraging its resources, expertise, and partnerships to address pressing social issues, particularly within the realm of education.

To maximize our reach and effectiveness, the Herbo Foundation has established strategic partnerships with organizations possessing the technical expertise and experience necessary to execute various programs targeting identified focus areas. These areas encompass a wide array of challenges within the education system, including high dropout rates, poor learning levels, inequitable access to quality education, prevalent rote-learning practices, lack of accountability, and inadequate teacher preparation.

Understanding that these issues are systemic in nature, the Herbo Foundation adopts a comprehensive approach, emphasizing deliberate, long-term, and sustained planning to build capacities and foster public awareness and engagement. We focus on building the capacities of key stakeholders within the school education system, empowering them to drive meaningful reform.

Central to our mission is the belief that education serves as a powerful enabler of social change. We envision a democracy where every citizen is empowered not only in individual capacity but also in principles of equity, diversity, and justice. Schools play a pivotal role in nurturing these principles, capabilities, and values, serving as spaces for holistic development across cognitive, social, emotional, physical, and ethical dimensions.

Our notion of good education extends beyond academic achievement to encompass the holistic development of children, enabling them to fulfill and expand their potential as active, contributing, and concerned citizens of the world. We emphasize the importance of learning-to-learn, critical thinking, problem-solving, and conceptual understanding as essential facets of an exceptional education system.

Through our commitment to social responsibility, the Herbo Foundation strives to create a more equitable, inclusive, and just society, where all individuals have the opportunity to thrive and contribute meaningfully to their communities and the world at large.
